SEVEN D INDUSTRIES INTRODUCES CLAY COLOR OPTION FOR VINYL WINDOWS AND PATIO DOORS

November 15, 2006 - Seven D Industries, LP is expanding consumer options with the addition of a new vinyl color choice. "Clay" has been added to the existing color options: white (standard) and tan.

Clay vinyl is available in the following Seven D Industries product series:

- * Series 2000 new construction casement windows
- * Series 2000 new construction awning windows
- * Series 5700 new construction single hung windows
- * Series 5700 new construction double hung windows
- * Series 2500 patio doors
- * Series 3500 patio doors

Windows and patio doors with clay vinyl possess the same benefits that have become synonymous with Seven D Industries' products such as durability, maintenance and energy efficiency. Multi-chambered vinyl frame extrusions provide strength and trap air, which increases the energy performance and improves the sound deadening qualities of the frame. In addition, Seven D vinyl is so easy to maintain that it requires little more than a heavy rain to maintain its original beauty.

Every Seven D window and patio door is made from 100% virgin vinyl not recycled or remanufactured vinyl. This ensures that the vinyl will not fade, warp or become brittle. Seven D vinyl acts as a barrier to exterior temperatures and remains comfortable to the touch regardless of weather conditions. This increases the energy performance of every Seven D window and patio door. Seven D vinyl is integrated throughout instead of merely "surface only" vinyl. This means frames and sashes will resist weathering and should never require painting.
